

CLAIMS

What is claimed is:

- 1) (Amended) A method for engaging in a business method board game adapted to be played by a plurality of players comprising the steps of:
 - a) Providing a game board adapted for a particular business method of bidding on and fulfilling construction contracts wherein the board comprises a simulated roadway with u-turn capability and designated address locations;
 - b) Providing implements to be used in performing the business method in connection with the game board, wherein the implements comprise dice, playing cards, simulated vehicles such as trucks, script representing money, simulated parts representing simulated materials and bid boards with dollar amounts that clip or attach to cards representing money; and
 - c) Engaging in a construction bidding business method game according to pre-determined rules wherein the rules provide for moving the simulated vehicles only in designated directions along the roadway, strategically dividing a number obtained by rolling the dice, between simulated vehicles, landing the simulated vehicles on stores, purchasing the simulated materials, fulfilling contracts with a winner of the game declared when one of the plurality of players attains a predetermined dollar value.